EDDY TALKS OF MONEY MADNESS

High Finance Discussed in Pulpit of Unitarian Church.

CALLS IT A WORLD MENACE

SAYS SOCIAL SALVATION DE-PENDS ON CONSCIENCE.

At Unitarian hall, yesterday, Rev Frank Fay Eddy preached on "Money Madness." Mr. Eddy dealt with the ethieal problem involved in the recent excles. He said they brought the blush of shame to every decent American and a realizing sense of the gravity of the peril to our national life. It is not mere-ly a question of tainted money, but of a tainted atmosphere that is vitiating the a tainted atmosphere that is vitiating the lives of our children, he said. "Just now we are filled with loathing at the vulgar and defiant rascals who are too unspeakably stupid to be ashamed," he said. "It is bad enough that our oil kings, our coal barons, our captains of industry, and petentates of finance and insurance, should have disgraced us in the eyes of the nations. But of graver consequence is the condition revealed by their very existence. The whole future, not only of American civilization, but of the world's 'civilization, is menaced by money madness. The growing solidarity of civilized peoples through increased facility in transportation and communication, through the very progress of the masses and the rapid increase of wealth, makes the danger universal."

for no sudden transformation. Political warfare, reform waves, and even revolutions, may all come in their appointed seasons. These are the symptoms of growth. The revivals that are also survivals. So our human epochs succeed each other by gradual transitions, just as by imperceptible degrees succeeding springs change the flora and fauna of a region."

P. W. Ober Talks of Plan for Los Angeles' New Supply.

P. W. Ober of Nevada, who is staying at the Cullen, was the first man to drive a wagon over the new short cut from Bulifrog to Goldfield. He was also one of the first men to locate in the Goldfield district. Mr. Ober has just returned from an extended trip along the Pacific coast and will remain in the city for some time. While in California he spent considerable time in the Streams in this valley that Los Angeles is to procure its new water supply. The citizens voted $24,000,000 for this project recently. Mr. Ober says the work of securing the water rights and right of way for the proposed pipe line has been started already and agents are now in the valley for that purpose. The water will be obtained from the Blg Pine. Bishop and other streams, and piped to Los Angeles, a distance of nearly 250 miles. The pipe line will be built from a point near one of these streams along the base of the Sierra-Rovada mountains through the valley and towerds the city at the south end of the range.

PRINCE LOUIS WILL VISIT TOMB

Washington. Nov. 5.—Rear Admiral Louis of Battenberg was today the guest of honor at a luncheon given by Assistant Secretary Oliver of the war department and Mrs. Oliver, and tonight was entertained at a dinner given by Walter Beupre Townley, counsellor of the British embassy, and Lady Townley. Both these functions were informal and they were the only social features of consequence on the day's programme. The remainder of the day was spent at the embassy, where the prince is a guest of Ambassador and Luady Durand. During the day, however, Prince Louis made several calls. The prince received a number of callers who desired to pay their respects in the course of the day. At the luncheon given by the Olivers, at which Joseph H. Modern appliances and additional projects which may be adopted by the Taft board appointed last summer and the fortifications of the insular possession may increase the estimate when addi tional work is approved by congress. It is estimated that $4,263,364 will be required to put into execution by the engineering department the schemes of the artillery and signal corps for fire control of the seacoast defenses. The

STRANGE SENSATIONS CAUSED BY

SHATTERED NERVES.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills Afford Relief From Distressing Experiences Caused By Overwork.

"Before I began to take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills," said Mrs. Mary Reagan, of No 86 Kilburn street, Fall River, Mass., recently, "I was in and out of bed all the time, but now I stay up all day and do all my own work.

"I was badly run down from overwork. One day noises began in my head and almost made me crazy. My head felt as if a tight band had been put around it, and the pressure and the sounds made me so uneasy that I often had to walk the floor all night when I should have been sleeping

"My stomach was in bad shape, and I had smothering sensations At such times my body seemed bloodless, my hands were like chalk and my face turned yellow. The doctor said I had dyspepsia in the worst form. Then my nerves gave way and I was completely prostrated. At night I could not sleep, and in the daytime if I bent over to pick up a rug the smothering sensation would come on at once. "The first box of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills that I used quieted my nerves so that I could get a good night's sleep, which was a new experience for me. Before I began to use them I was a nervous wreck and trembled at the slightest sound. I was so weak that I had to sit down and rest every few steps when I went up stairs. Now I can run up a whole flight at once. The smothering sensations have gone and the noises in my head have stopped entirely. My appearance has greatly improved, for friends who were alarmed on my account before, now say: 'How well you are looking!' My husband spent over a hundred dollars on treatment for me that was worthless, but a few boxes of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills brought me sound health '

STRANGE INDIAN TRIBE.

Mode of Life of the Tarahumara of Mexico.

(Mexican Herald.) Most curious information comes from Chihuahua relative to the customs and practices of the Tarahumara Indians, savage tribe of that state. The informant is Trinidad Pereyra, who spent some time among the Indians, com-missioned by Governor Creel to study the most appropriate means to civiliz them. The Tarahumara Indians ar descendants of the Nahoas, who lived many years in the Sierra of Chihuahua. According to the latest census the tribe marine mines, $549,700; preservation and repair of torpedo structures, $50,000, Defenses of insular possessions:
Sea coast batteries, Manila, P. I., $2,000,000; sea coast batteries, Subig bay, P. I., $5,000,000; harbor Hawaii.

Planting Season.

During the rainy season corn and ans are planted, but on a small scale consumption is raised. When crops are gathered the men spend their time smoking and drinking "tezguino," a kind of aguardients which they make of corn, and the women do the They do not cultivate wheat, but after the crops are gathered by the neigh-boring districts they pick up what is left by the reapers. All members of a trict, and pick up sometimes as much is 200 pounds.

Children are taught to take care of sheep. They have no cattle and live on sheep milk, pinole, tortillas, frijoles, birds, rats, mice and snakes. The pinole is cooked corn mixed with sugar or piloncillo and pounded into powder. When the pinole is mixed with water or milk and boiled it is called champurrado. Birds, rats, snakes and the ther animals used for food are hunted use the bow and arrow. Some of nem are very good marksmen. The Tarahumaras have their own language and only a few of them speak Spanish well. Their dress is something that surprises one who has never seen tribe of savage Indians. Only a very wear cotton breeches; the balance wear breech clouts. None of them wear a shirt or shoes and there are many who have no hats. When there is a fiesta a funeral or such occasion, the gala at tire consists of breeches shirt, hat and huaraches. The women wear blouse and skirts and sometimes a rebozo These are homespun. The women also make zarapes for their husbands and brothers, to be used during the cold season. Children are naked until the age of four or five, when they begin to wear breech clouts.

Seif Governing.

The Tarahumaras have their own vernment and legislature, although ese are appointed by and subject to the Mexican authorities of the neightown there is a "gobernadorcillo," or little governor, and a chief of police. All gobernadocillos and chiefs of police are subject to a captain general or superior jefe, who is also appointed by the Mexican authorities. It is only seldom that the latter have occasion to come rather law-abiding. The most requent crime committed within their erritory is drunkenness and an occasnal murder. Drunkenness is not punished severely.

Tarahumaras like and admire civilization. They believe that the Mexican It government is good because it protects them. This refers only to those who live near towns of civilized people. Those who live in the heart of the mountains do not know any other rulers than their gobernadorcillo and captain general, and they believe that all the country is just like the coun-

Thus said Perkins, who is married and has a reputation as a wit and story tel-of a good laugh as any woman, but the way she can ball up a joke is an awful warning.

"'A good while ago one of the real funny weeklies printed a picture joke. In the first picture an old maid from the country was shown entering an aisle of a big department store. She had approached the floorwalker—they call him an usher now—and asked for the print cloths. The first picture showed a side view of the floorwalker, we o was saying, 'Walk this way, madam.'

"In the second picture the floorwalker was going down the aisle and it was apparent that he was extremely bow-legged. The rural spinster appeared with a look of horror on her face as she ejaculated: 'Why, I could not walk that way if I tried it for a year.

"I used to tell the story with great eclat. It never failed to evoke a laugh, and my wife knew it must be a winner. She belonged to a few women's clubs and things from which I am barred, but she yearned to equal me as a story teller. One night she came home from the club in an extraordinary state of perturbation. I asked her what was the matter, and she said: 'Oh, George, I told one of your funniest stories tonight, and it didn't go worth a cent. It fell flai. That hateful Mrs. Hankins said something about a diagram and I was so mortified that I could cry.'
